A Special Sale of

$25.00 U. S. Springfield Rifles, $1.95

CAN be used for decorative purposes in den, living-room, and other parts of the home. These rifles were used in the Spanish-American war; and every rifle was made under the supervision of the United States government inspectors, and every rifle is guaranteed to be in perfect working order. The very low price is due to the fact that all of the Springfield Rifles which were stored in the various United States government arsenals and ammunition warehouses throughout the country were sold for a lump sum by the United States War Department to a New York firm, representing a mere fraction of the former price. We have just secured five hundred of these rifles, with bayonets attached, and offer them at the Special price, $1.95 each.

Mrs. Bryce, wife of the British Ambassador, had a pretty reception yesterday afternoon at the embassy. She was assisted by the wives of the members of the embassy staff.

PRINCESS IN TOWN

Marie von Ysemburg, of Germany, to Tour Country.

RELATED TO KAISER WILHELM

Comes Here from Philadelphia, Where She Was Guest of Prof. and Mrs. Hilprecht—Is at Shoreham, and Refuses Interviews—Relative Was Sutor of Pullman Heiress.

The blue-blooded of Washington experienced an increase yesterday by the arrival in this city of her highness Marie von Ysemburg, of Buedingen, Hesse-Darmstadt, Germany.

The distinguished visitor engaged apartments at the Shoreham, and at once paid a call on Count Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, and Countess Bernstorff, who are making the Shoreham their temporary home. Princess Marie positively declined to see newspaper men and even left written instructions at the hotel office to that effect.

The German princess, according to the Almanach de Gotha, is thirty-three summers young. She is an attractive brunette, is rather tall, of slim figure, and speaks English and French fluently, in addition to her native German. The object of her visit to this country is said to be her desire to see America, and to make an extended tour of this country.

On her arrival in this country it was announced that she came here to marry Amor Robinson, a millionaire Baltimorean, and stepson of Prof. Hilprecht, the celebrated Assyriologist of the University of Pennsylvania. It was said at the time that the princess' father and mother had given their consent to the marriage, and that the couple met in Italy while traveling a few years ago.

Is Clever Musician.
Prof. Hilprecht, who entertained the princess in Philadelphia, emphatically "never said she was especially interested in American men, nor in a Philadelphia, nor in any man."

She is distinctly related to Kaiser Wilhelm: is a clever and talented musician, and she rides well, as she naturally would, being a member of a hunting family in Germany. The princess arrived in New York recently on the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie, and was accompanied by Prof. and Mrs. Hilprecht, with whom she had traveled from Darmstadt.

Princess Marie is one of the unmarried members of the Buedingen branch of the mediæval, or formerly sovereign, German house of Ysemburg. Like so many of the other dynasties of the petty states of Germany, it lost its throne in the great upheaval of Central Europe caused by Napoleon at the beginning of the nineteenth century; but retained many prerogatives, among others that of intermarrying on a footing of equality with the now reigning members of the Old World.

Family Known in America.
The Ysemburg family is in no sense of the word unknown on this side of the water. One of its members, Prince Leopold, was over here as a sutor for the hand of the daughter of the sleeping car magnate, Pullman. The latter, learning that if the marriage took place the girl would not be received on a footing of equality by her husband's relatives, and that her children would be barred from succession to the family estates, peremptorily vetoed the match.

The prince has since wedded Princess Olga of Saxe-Weimar, and makes his home at Darmstadt. One of his brothers, Prince Charles, married an American girl in London. She was Miss Bertha Lewis, of New Orleans, and by reason of her somewhat awkward position in Germany she makes her home with her husband exclusively in Paris.

The mother of these two princes, namely, the Dowager Princess of Ysemburg-Birstein, is by birth an Austrian archduchess, and attracted some attention to a different branch of the family, though altogether unsuccessful efforts to bring about the rehabilitation and reform of her misguided niece, Archduchess Louise, ex-Crown Princess of Saxony.

Princess Marie, who is now in this city, belongs to a different branch of the family. She makes her home at Buedingen in the grand duchy of Hesse, and is one of a family of ten boys and girls.

Paul J. Holman Dead.
Paul J. Holman, of Washington, D. C., died in St. Francis Hospital in London, yesterday. He was at one time a member of the Geological Survey.

HOLD RALLY SUNDAY

Christian Endeavor Juniors Plan Annual Meeting.

BANNER WILL BE AWARDED

Work of Mission Study Class on the Moslem World Is Ended—Temple Baptist Christian Endeavor Society Observes Twenty-first Anniversary—Other Church News.

The Junior Christian Endeavor of the District may look for an interesting time in their annual rally to be held Sunday afternoon, January 31, at the Calvary Baptist Church, Eighth and H streets northwest. Rev. R. P. Anderson, of Boston, the "Uncle David" of the Junior Christian Endeavor World, is to be present and talk to the boys and girls. The banner which is awarded each year to the one of the thirty-eight junior societies having the largest percentage of attendance at the rally has been in possession of the Temple Baptist Juniors, and they are working to keep it another year.

A list of books is suggested for reference in preparing for the Christian Endeavor topic for January 31, "Heroes of Missions in India," "Famous Missionaries of the Church," and "Pioneer Missionaries of the Church," chapter 2, by C. C. Crugan; "Men of Might in India," by Holcomb; "Life of Adoniram Judson," by Judson; "Henry Martyn," by Page; "Luz Christ," by C. A. Mason; "Christian Conquest of India," by J. M. Thoburn; also literature at the Christian Endeavor Union headquarters, 720 Bond Building.

A very successful mission study class on the "Moslem World" has just been concluded by the Endeavorers of the First Congregational Church. The meetings have been held every Wednesday at the home of the leader, Miss Jessie Potwin, the Silver Bay delegate of last year. A social hour was spent at the last session.

This week the society held meetings at Gospel Hall, a new field of work where Mr. Josiah Woods led, and at Florence Crittenton Home.

Temple Baptist Christian Endeavor society celebrated its twenty-first anniversary with a spread Friday evening, January 15. Decorations were in red and white, carnations being the flowers. The tables formed a "T" (variously suggested as standing for "Temple," "Thompson," or "Trouble"). Toastmaster George Sholes introduced the following speakers: H. C. Johnson, "Organization and growth of Temple Christian Endeavor;" E. T. Fenwick, "Old times;" A. W. Starratt, "Outlook of Christian Endeavor;" F. B. Rhodes, "The last days of Percy Gates;" "The President," L. Thompson, "The society;" Rev. F. M. Muir, D. D., "The spirit of Christian Endeavor." Dr. Muir returned thanks at the beginning of the banquet, and Miss Alice Fletcher led a verse of "Blest Be the Tie" near the close. The president had the pleasure of cutting the birthday cake graced with twenty-one candles. A number of the older members of the society introduced the occasion with their presence. Mrs. Starratt was presented with flowers, and some were sent to the sick friends and members of the society.

The citizenship department of the District of Columbia Christian Endeavor Union has issued some little folders calling attention of the Sunday schools and other religious organization to the fact that their picnic patronage should be withheld from river boat and other resorts which engage in liquor selling.

One of the greatest successes of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Church of the Covenant has been achieved during the fiscal year that is just ending in the creation of a great missionary interest, mainly through the mission study class. They have undertaken the support for three years of Rev. James M. Henry, pastor of Peck Memorial Chapel, who leaves in October for China. This has been done through systematic pledging, no solicitations being made outside the members of the society. A few others, however, have been made gratuitously by others interested.

The Ninth Street Christian Endeavor Society has put the arrangements for Christian Endeavor Day into the hands of a special committee. The offering for the Damoh orphan has been announced, and good results are expected from this part of the programme.

East Washington Heights Baptist society has forty-seven active members. C. L. Jenkins is president; R. W. Starkweather, vice president; C. I. Smith, secretary; Mrs. C. J. Gilbert, corresponding secretary, and C. J. Russell, treasurer.

At an executive committee meeting of the Shiloh Baptist Christian Endeavor Society last Sunday evening John A. Miles, the president, was chosen a delegate to the St. Paul convention in July next. James R. Moss, William O. Coats, Mrs. C. H. Donoho, Mrs. Mary C. Diamond, and Mrs. Opera White were appointed a committee on arrangements.

Central Union Mission was in charge of Temple Baptist Endeavorers last evening.

At the 5 o'clock service of the Young People's Society, of the Church of the Covenant, on January 17, a most interesting stereopticon lecture was given by Rev. W. S. Nelson, an educational missionary from Tripoli, Syria.

Rev. R. P. Anderson, of Boston, one of the associate editors of the Christian Endeavor World, and superintendent of the Christian Endeavor Builders' Union, is to be present at the next meeting of the District of Columbia Christian Endeavor Union, as one of the speakers.

Mr. Anderson is a Scotsman, and was educated in Glasgow. As a minister he has preached in Scotland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and the United States.

Store Open To-night Till 9 o'clock.
LANSBURGH & BRO.

Sensational Silk Petticoat Selling.

Values to $5.98 for $3.19

In looking over our Silk Stock prior to inventory we find we have entirely too large a stock of Silk Petticoats on hand, black and colors, all sizes; skirts in the lot that sold as high as $5.98 each. Our stock-taking is near at hand, and our stock must be reduced considerably before the first of the month, consequently to-day you can buy these fine Silk Petticoats, worth up to $5.98, at the ridiculously low price of $3.19.

COL. MOSBY RECOVERING.

Was Ill with Cold Taken During Recent Storm.

Col. John S. Mosby, the Confederate rough rider, who has been seriously ill, is now pronounced out of danger by his physician, and his early recovery is practically assured. His illness was due more to a cold contracted during the recent storm, than any organic trouble, and the passing of the cold wave has brought him the needed relief.

TO HOLD ANNUAL SMOKER.

People of Nutmeg State Now in District Meet To-night.

The annual gathering of the Connecticut people in the District of Columbia will take place to-night at Grand Army Hall, 112 Pennsylvania avenue, in the form of a jollification and smoker to be conducted under the auspices of the Connecticut Republican Association of the District.

Besides the members of the Congressional delegation of Connecticut, who are expected to be present and make address, the Hon. James T. Du Bois, of the State Department, will address the meeting on the duties of American citizenship, and it is also expected that Hon. T. V. Powderly, of the Immigration Service, will attend and make an address.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY MEETS.

Passes Resolutions Thanking Very Rev. T. P. O'Rourke.

An interesting programme was presented in St. Dominic's Hall last evening, at the meeting of the Holy Name Society of that parish, opening with vocal selections by Richard Hart.

In behalf of the Holy Name Society, R. H. Johnson, the president, presented to the prior, Very Rev. T. P. O'Rourke, O. P., a set of resolutions expressing profound appreciation of the kind interest manifested by him in the welfare of the society.

Father O'Rourke responded with expressions of gratitude for the evidence of friendship and affection. Speaking of the Holy Name Society as "an organization of which he and the people of his parish were proud," the prior paid high tribute to Rev. Father J. L. Finerty, O. P., the director whose "indefatigable efforts have brought about such gratifying results, whose zeal has made the society what it is to-day."

James Campbell, a member of the society, gave an illustrated lecture, narrating in an interesting manner several remarkable experiences of the Greenly relief expedition, of which he was a member.

LECTURES ON CANAL ZONE

Mrs. Adams Tells Geographic Society of Conditions.

Shows Moving Pictures of President Roosevelt and Party Touring in Panama.

Mrs. Harriet Chalmers Adams, wife of J. Franklin Adams, of the Bureau of American Republics, who has just returned from a three years' trip through the Canal Zone, gave an interesting lecture on conditions in the Canal Zone before the National Geographic Society, in the auditorium of the New Masonic Temple, last night. Moving pictures, taken at much expense and hazard, were used to illustrate the points of the lecturer.

The first views thrown on the screen were taken in the Island of Trinidad, and showed many interesting sights of the asphalt industry. Contrary to general belief, the lecturer said, asphalt is not taken from a lake in the island. It forms what might be termed a marsh and will sustain the weight of several persons.

Several pictures taken in Venezuela were shown, after which a roll of films taken in Panama was exhibited. The pictures showed Panama under old and new conditions, and offered a strong testimonial to the progress made on the isthmus since the invasion of American money, brains, and energy.

Moving pictures of President Roosevelt and his party, taken while he was in Panama, were shown for the first time in this country last night. The Chief Executive was pictured in many characteristic poses, one picture of exceptional merit showing him in the mess tent. Other views showed him delivering a speech and climbing about the canal diggings.

Mrs. Adams said that conditions on the isthmus had improved greatly since American occupancy, and stated that the men working there now are satisfied and happy, and are progressing rapidly with their work. Realistic pictures of the immense steam shovels in action were shown, and some views taken at random showing a high standard of the photographer's art, were thrown on the screen.

PLAN FOR AUDITORIUM.

Meeting to Be Held To-day at Willard to Discuss Project.

The incorporators of the National Auditorium Company have called a public meeting at the New Willard Hotel this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at which the plans and purposes of the enterprise will be explained in detail. Robert H. Bacon, Assistant Secretary of State, will preside, and Secretary Ethel Root will be among the speakers.

The purpose of the meeting to-day is to make public in a formal manner the plans of the corporation and to interest the public in the movement.

It is understood to be the view of the incorporators that it would be an easy thing for a few rich men to provide the cash with which to erect the proposed structure, but it is a part of the plan of the company to offer a considerable part of the stock to public subscription, with a view to making the project a popular one as far as possible.

Royal Arch Men to Meet.

The annual visitation of the most excellent grand high priest and other officers of Grand Royal Arch Chapter of the District to Columbia Chapter, No. 1, Royal Arch Masons, will be held January 30.

Until further notice our business hours will be 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.
